I think I am highly qualified for this job because of my expertise working in group, as well as my software development knowledge and learning capacity. Furthermore, I'm a truly reliable partner as I am fully committed with my team.

POSITIONS

I have taken part in some other interesting group projects like this. Last year I developed two software products, one of them for an important law firm, in which I learned database and web developing, getting familiar with PHP, SQL, HTML, CSS and JS, as well as some libraries like jQuery.

For the second project I made a mashup to provide a useful task management service to all Google users called "LifeAssistant", learning API integration.

EDUCATION

I am currently studying 3rd course of Software Engineering degree at University of Seville. Through all these three years I have learned so many developing strategies and programming technics that makes me a perfect candidate for this job.

I also have a diploma in science by Martínez Montañés Institute where I studied for three years.

MISCELLANEOUS

My first language is Spanish, and I've got a B2 English level so it's a language in which I can communicate fluently. As for programming languages, I know Java, PHP, SQL, JavaScript and Python.
